

Good morning,

The three-year time limit for the impact statement phase of the federal assessment of the Webequie Supply Road Project (the Project) ends on February 24, 2023. By that deadline, Webequie First Nation must provide the Agency with all required information and studies for the assessment, pursuant to subsection 19(1) of the Impact Assessment Act (IAA).

On October 21, 2022, the Impact Assessment Agency of Canada (the Agency) received a request from Webequie First Nation to extend the time limit of the impact statement phase. The request is available for viewing on the Canadian Impact Assessment Registry Internet site for the Project: <https://iaac-aeic.gc.ca/050/evaluations/proj/80183>.

For your information, please also see the attachment for useful links to Webequie First Nation's project website where plain-language documents, such as study plans, are available.

Feel free to share your views on the extension request, by sending an email to Webequie@iaac-aeic.gc.ca, by November 25, 2022.

The Agency is reviewing the request and will consider input received by November 25, 2022, to inform decision-making on the request. Please note that the Agency must decide whether to grant the extension before February 24, 2023.

You will be notified of the Agency's decision, once it is posted on the Registry.

Regards,
Ely Weisbrot
